... IN THE SOCIAL REALM

True love is at home on a carpet,
And mightily likes his case.
And true love has an eye for dinner,
And starves beneath shady trees.

His wing is the fan of a lady,
His foot's an invisible thing,
And his arrow is tipped with a jewel,
And shot from a sliver string.
Willis.

He that would win his dame must do as love does when he draws his bow; with one hand thrust the lady from and with the other pull her home.—Butler, Take no repulse whatever, she doth say.

For "get you gone," she does not mean

Shakespeare. Bring, therefore, all the forces that ye may, And lay incessant battery to her heart. Plaints, prayers, vows, truth, sorrow and dismay, These engines can the proudest love And if these fall, fall down and die before her, So dying, live, and dying do adore her. Men are April when they woo, December when they wed; maids are May when they are maids, but the sky changes when they are wives.—Shakespeare. April's Tears Are Kissed Away.

There is an old song which runs; "If you were April's Lady, And I were Lord of May-

"If you were April's Lady,
And I were Lord of May—with all sorts of promises as to what the singer would do in such a case.
For one thing, he would kiss her tears away. Even in Virginia, April is moody and much given to sudden showers. But climes there are where Lady April walks
the blooming earth with sunny smiles and needs no Lord of May to comfort her.
The emerald belt that girdles the world in spring is a wavering line, but while ice is being dynamited in Vladivostok harbor, American tourists sailing into the harbor at Marseilles, France, are almost at once in the world's biggest flower garden. In southern France the April Lady has not only wiped her eyes, but is smilling brightly at the Lord of May, and the flower harvest is being gathered in for perfume making.
June is Virginia's month of roses, but in Persia, where Omar Khayyam sang:
"O, yet that spring should vanish with

"O, yet that spring should vanish with

"O, yet that spring should vanish with the rose"— the spring and the rose that came hand in hand are dropping scented petals in the perfume fields preparatory to a mutual withdrawal.

In New England It is the arbutus that is the lovely harbinger of spring, scenting pine and maple groves where patches of green appear on sunny hillsides, while snow still lingers in the hollows.

Down on the South Atlantic and Guit coast the air is heavy with the scent of blossoms and the scarlet of strawberries is blazoning the garden beds and fields with crimson. All the West Indies are abloom. Bermuda had for Easter such acres of illy bells that sailors declared they could hear the faint, sweet cache of their chiming borne by the April breezes across the waters.

April is a fragrant month. The earth never smells so sweet as when the frost has gone out of it and the brown furrows lie unfolded to the sun. With the springing of the grasses come the dandelion and the buttercup, the music of the wood robin and the radiant sense of joy with which the soul attunes itself to the companionship of capricious, yet charming, Lady April.

The April Bride.

The April Bride.

The April Bride.

Lady April has had nothing but smiles with which to greet the brides that have awaited her coming. April wedding chimes will ring gladly on Tuesday next when Miss Grace Elliott Shields and Mr. Thomas Henry Russell, of New York, will be married in St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal Church at 1 o'clock P. M. by the rector, the Rev. Dr. Robert Strange.

The bride will come in with her maid of The bride will come in with her maid of honor, Miss Anne Lee. Mr. Russell will have as his best man, and will be attended by Mr. Leonce Fuller, Mr. Jasper Rand, Mr. Henry Sewall, of New York; Mr. Preston Witherspoon, Mr. William Parrish, of Picture of the Selection of the Select Richmond, and Mr. Lawrence Smith, of the University of Virginia. The groom, best man and groomsmen will wear gardenias as boutonnieres; they will reach Richmond to-day and have apartments while here at the Wesmoreland

Mrs. Grace Elliott Shields, the bride's mother, will be gowned in black silk net, built on a silk foundation and heavily embroidered in silver and jet. Her hat will be trimmed in jet and silver and her bouquet will be of white violets.

The ceremony will be followed by an clegant wedding breakfast turnished under the direction of the manegement at the Chesterfield. Table and dining room decorations in palms, maldenhalr forms and white fluers will correspondend with the color scheme of the wedding in green and white, Guests at the breakfast in addition to Mrs. Shields and the bride and groom will be Mr. Percy Jones, Mrs. Terrell, Mr. Alex Moseley, Mr. Giny Moseley, Mr. and Mrs. Reed, Mrs. Hess, Mr. Carrington, Mr. Talbott, Mrs. Hess, Mr. Carrington, Mr. Talbott, Miss M. Mr. Joel Perring, Mr. Lewis Brander and others. others.

After their wedding tour, Mr. Russell will take his bride to Short Hill, N. J., where they will have their future home. Miss Shields has always been greatly admired in Richmond society, and her friends here are full of regret that she is to live away from this city. Her wed-ding gifts, especially in cut glass and sliver, are exceedingly handsome.

Armstrong—Lindsey.

Armstrong—Lindsey.

One of the smartest and most fashfonable weddings of the season was celebrated at 1 o'clock in the afternoon of yesterday, April 9th, when Miss Cathaline Dawson Lindsey and Mr. Egbert Jackson Armstrong, of New York, were married in St. Faul's Church by the rector, the Rev. Dr. Robert Strange.

Every detail of the ceremonial was marked with the strictest elegance and good taste. The church and house decorations were in green and white, and were most ornate and elaborate.

The bride came into church with her father, Mr. R. Hughes Lindsey, who gave her away. She wore a lovely gown of white chiffon cloth over mousseline and taffeta, and carried white orchids and illies of the valley.

The maid of honor, Miss Nan Lindsey, the sister of the bride, was in pale pink chiffon cloth and white lace hat. The bridesmaids, Miss May Lindsey, Miss Ellzabeth Davenport, Miss Louile Whitlock, of Richmond, and Miss Sue Johnston, of Knoxville, Tennessee, wore pale pink panne crepe de chine. The maids all carried paragols painted by a well known New York artist, with bouquets of pink roses attached.

Mr. Harry B. Hollins, Jr., was best man, Mr. Harry Nicholas, Mr. Robert Watson, Mr. Roy Nicholas, of New York, Mr. Evans Williams Lindsey, Mr. Julian Hill and Mr. Hunsden Cary were groomsmen.

A reception and wedding breakfast for the bridal party, relatives and a small number of intimate friends, followed the ceremony in the home of the brida's parents, No. 816 West Franklin Street, where the entire suite of the spacious first floor was thrown open. Mrs. Lindsey were pale blue chiffor cloth. with lace. Little Miss Eleanor Lindsey was specially pretty in mull, with an apple blossom hat.

A lovely ante-nuptial supper was tendered the bridal party by Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey, in a private parior of the Westmoreland Club. Friday evening, April 8th, at 8 o'clock. Covers for eighteen were laid at a round table. The floral adornment in plink tulips, was exquisite, and the fine service and menu did credit to the management of the Westmoreland. Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong will reside after their wedding trip at Eretton Hall, New York-city, where Mr. Armstrong is a member of the firm of H. I. Nichelas and Company, on the New York Stock Exchange. The presence of a large number of New York guests at the church on Saturday and the elegant gowning of many of the ladies present made the marriage one of the mest brilliant and fashlonable of the Easter season. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Dan Casement, who have recently returned to the States from Central America; Mrs. Thornburg, Miss Clarke, Mrs. Howell, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Hollins, Mr. and Mrs. Johnston Livingston, Miss Livingston, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Knapp and Miss Armstrong, of New York.

Ouiet Home Wedding.

The wedding of Miss Ruth Tanner to Mr. Norvel Knox Wilson will take place very quietly at 1 P. M., April 14th, in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Wortham, of No. 1106 Floyd Avenue. Only relatives and a few inti-Weddings of Last Week.

Weddings of Last week.

Richmond was very gay in the matter of last week's weddings, one of the most brilliant celebrations taking place Tuesday evening at 8:30 o'clock in the suptials of Miss Elise Calvin Bragg to Mr. Grunville Gray Valentine. The ceredmony, performed at St. Paul's Church, was followed by a reception in the home of the bride, No. 319 West Franklin Street.

was followed by a reception in the home of the bride, No. 319 West Franklin Street.

A fashionable home wedding at 5:30 o'clock, on the afternoon of the same day, was witnessed in the marriage of Misu Alyce Blanche Morgan, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Tate Morgan, of No. 111 East Franklin Street, to Mr. William Ayres Reynolds, of Toronto, Canada, the Rev. Dr. George Cooper, former pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiating.

Miss Lula Belle Puller and Mr. Robert Tyler English were married Thursday. April 7th, at 7:15 P. M., in the home of the bride's father, the Rev. H. P. Atking, officiating.

Miss Estelle Annette Pizzini and Mr. George Everett Sprague, of Boston, were married Wednesday evening at 6:30 o'clock, at the home of the bride's parents, Capitain and Mrs. Andrew W. Pizzini, and in the presence of immediate relatives and intimate friends. The Rev. Fathers Joseph Magri. Hannigan and McKefery performed the ceremony.

Other weddings in which Richmond people were deeply interested included that of Miss Wilhelmina. Agnes Reeve, of Washington, D. C., to Dr., Greer Baughman, in the bride's home, Washington, D. C., to Pr., Greer Baughman, in the bride's home, Washington, D. C., to Mrs. Green Capital Complex (Hand) and the fitty in Meade Memorial Church, Manchester, Wednesday evening at 0:30 o'clock; that of Miss Coley Blanche Lovell to Dr. Wade Hampton Saunders, of Gate City, Va., in Baibridge Street Baptist Church, Manchester, Va., April 6th at 6:30 P. Brilliant Concert for To-morrow Evening.

Evening.

The A. P. V. A. concert, which will be given to-morrow evening, April 11th, at $1.30 o'clock, in the hall of the Young Men's Christian Association, will be the most important society happening of the day. The names of the musicians published on the programme below give every assurance of what may be expected in the way of enjoyment and pleasure.

The Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities looks confidently forward to a great success, one which will result in raising a much needed fund to carry on the work which the association is doing at Jamestown.

The association has four hundred members in Richmond and Manchester, and the Executive Committee of the concert appeals for support personally to each one and through each one to the public, as represented by their friends.

It is trusted and believed that the concert will repeat the tale of former efforts of the association, to which generous response has been made.

The programme for to-morrow evening is most attractive and is given with the committees as follows:

Owing to the fact that the first part of the programme, which will be entirely secular, has not been completely arganged, it is not given here, but will be published later.

The chorus of fifty volces, which has been studying A. R. Gaul's oratario. The Holy City for some time, is now holding its rebarsals in the music hall of Fergusson Brothers' music store. From the progress being made in the work, there is evidently a treat in store for musicians who attend the concert as the attractive shading and ensemble work already show evidence of intelligent and musicioly training under the bation of Dr. W. H. O. McGehee.

Miss Mary Shelton, the accompanist of the Wednesday Club, is playing at the rehearsals of the chorus and will be in evidence on the evening of the concert. Miss Shelton is an accompanist of experience and a planist of rare attainments, and will undoubtedly add greatly to the success of the concert.
